The Home Of The Husky

School Isn't

Taking time out from their busy schedules, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Yunker enjoy themselves at the Faculty Tea sponsored by the FHA.

Life at Northern High School is not all boring and nothing but work. It can also be fun and enjoyable. In the mornings before the homeroom bell rings, students can be found walking the halls, doing last minute work on homework assignments, or just hanging around in the front lobby. This time is used for catching up on the latest gossip about students and faculty alike. The cafeteria also serves a dual purpose. Not only do students eat there, but they use lunch to socialize. Homework problems, sporting events, and current school events are a few topics that are discussed by students.

Celebrating the Christmas season with music, Denise Friend, Michele Clutter, and Amy Wellborn awe the student body with the lovely sounds of their flutes.

All Work

Spending his quarter wisely, Scott Graham has a hard time deciding over the flavors of fruit punch, orange, or grape from the new fruit juice machine in the cafeteria.

Instead of buying the regular lunch, Janelle Esser enjoys the light meal provided by the salad bar.

Providing musical entertainment during the lunch shifts, the jukebox undergoes the scrutiny of Sherri Golden and Linda Yunker as they select their favorite songs.

Activities Add Special

The introduction of the Husky costume, made by Steve Wilburn, adds an exciting addition to school activities and sport events.

Senior football players are mimicked by Student Council members with a skit called "Twas the Night Before Homecoming."

Pausing from the exhausting Friendsville Halloween parade, Dwylin Miller shows his true Husky spirit.

Interest To School

Displaying the magazine campaign prizes, Manager Linda Yunker and Co-Manager Scott Watkins urge students to go out and sell.

Encouraged by foot stomping and hand clapping, the Country-Western performers entertained the music loving student body.

Bursting through the hoop, the Huskies start another exciting basketball game.

As the year rolls along, students are somewhat dulled with the monotony of classes, homework, and tests. To break the spell of boredom, special activities are planned during the school year. Such activities include the magazine campaign, pep rallies, sport events on school time, and Antrim Bureau shows. Club Days, held on every other Wednesday during seventh period, also help make school more lively. The annual Talent Show is held in March in which students are encouraged to participate in. Color Days, in which students and teachers alike dress in blue and gold, are also popular at Northern.

Pre-game jitters are experienced by the undefeated volleyball team as they prepare to do battle with the undefeated Indians from Mt. Savage.

Clinching their first title ever, the Husky football team displays their regional championship banner.

As a new addition to the band, the drill team performs with blue and gold flags at a football halftime.

The yearbook staff uses posters to encourage all students to buy a yearbook.

SCHOOL LIFE

Bonfire Produces

Making his debut, Steve Wilburn portrays the Husky mascot in a costume he created.

In preparation for Homecoming, the Student Council sponsored a bonfire night. Various skits and performances were executed to build spirit in players as well as fans. The Feature Twirlers and Drill Team entertained the football players and the crowd with a performance to "7-Up." The Cheerleaders and various female Student Council members mocked the football players in their mimicry of the team players. Steve Wilburn made his grand entrance as the Husky mascot. The efforts were successful and the Huskies scored a victory over the Berkley Springs Indians with a score of 3-0 to bring the record to 4-0.

Mocking the toughness of the team, the varsity cheerleaders illustrate that beating the Indians will be a breeze.

In an attempt to induce spirit before the bonfire, Amy Wellborn and Scott Watkins cuddle in the parking lot.

"Burning" Enthusiasm

Mimicing the senior football players, members of the Student Council "warm up" for their rendition of "'Twas The Night Before Homecoming."

In an effort to psych the football players, Sherri Golden, executes a two-baton performance to "7-UP."

With a smirk of mischief, Holly Harman hopes for a perfect fit.

Watching their fellow teammates saunter up the field, Rob Carr, Scott Graham, Mike Eggleston, and Scott

Rodeheaver contemplate their Homecoming strategy.

Homecoming Activities

Gracefully strolling toward their field position, Angie Glotfelty and her brother Mike, walk to the rhythm of the music.

As they walk down the field, Christy Fratz and her escort Talan King, don smiles of joy to the home crowd.

Getting themselves together, the band organizes their music and thoughts, for the long awaited half-time show.

Accentuate Pride

The sideline is the goal of Patti Blocher and her escort Tommy Schroyer as they ponder the upcoming event.

Edward Green and is presented a bouquet of red silk roses by former queen Tracy Finzel.

In all its glory and tradition, Homecoming was filled with nervous performers and anxious candidates. The week before Homecoming consisted of nominating the candidates, choosing the queen, a bonfire night to psyche the football players, and hours of practice for the half-time show by the band. Displayed in the showcase were pictures of the Homecoming candidates.

At half-time, entertainment was provided by the Northern High band, feature twirlers, and drill team. The candidates were escorted onto the field and Laura Stanton was crowned Homecoming queen. Her escort was Bill Swauger. The other candidates included; Angie Glotfelty, escorted by her brother Mike, Christy Fratz, escorted by Talan King, Patti Blocher, escorted by Tommy Schroyer, and Diane Hetrick, escorted by her brother Dale.

After a Husky victory over the Berkley Springs Indians, the varsity cheerleaders sponsored a Homecoming dance. The music was provided by Rox.

Waiting in anticipation of the crowning, Diane Hetrick and her brother Dale, listen intently to the band's arrangement of "Let It Be Me."

Magazine Sales

Proud of homeroom achievements, Manager Linda Yunker and Co-Manager Scott Watkins fill in homeroom charts.

Prizes are displayed during the annual magazine assembly while Mr. George Hannah explains the quota prizes to the student body.

Magazine Campaign Manager Linda Yunker distributes selling materials at the magazine assembly.

Reflect Hard Times

Awarded Slo-poke suckers, the high-homeroom-prize captors were, once again, a homeroom instructed by Mr. Gerald Snelson.

Displaying possible magazine prizes, Linda Yunker and Scott Watkins hope for another rewarding year.

As Linda Yunker and Scott Watkins filled the positions of manager and co-manager respectively, the annual magazine campaign was kicked-off and the businessman in every participating student became apparent. The two highest sales persons were Randall Beitzel with a grand total of $480.59, and Marcella Yoder, her sales amounting to $452.72. The anticipated goals were reached, raising over $11,000 with Mr. Snelson's homeroom of seniors contributing an average of $56.40 per student: the highest homeroom. Close behind was Mrs. Buckle's homeroom with an average of $53.14 per student. The campaign was considered an overall success with the total sales amounting to $11,225.66.

Husky Fans

"Punk Day" provides unusual costumes as portrayed by Carissa Selby, Patti Blocher, Barb Sisler, Scott Watkins, back row Amy Wellborn, Greg Rodeheaver, Julie Warnick, Steve Wilburn, Miranda Hicks, and Denise Friend.

"Spook Hancock Day," with its array of imagination, produces everything from a bride, Carissa Selby and a mouse, Amy Wellborn, to a little girl, Sherri Golden.

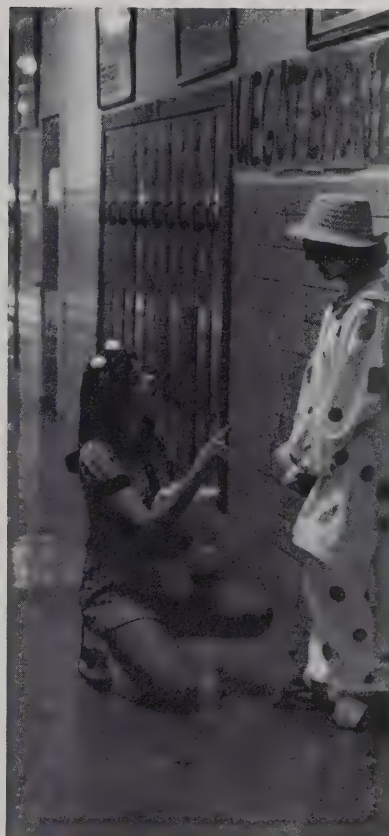

Portraying a palmreader, Julie Warnick attempts to see Shari Broom's future.

"Dressed To Kill"

Rowing her boat down the hall, Sherry Kolbfleisch depicts the Tidy Bowl man, hoping to "Wipe up" Hancock.

In sheer amazement "little girl" Sherri Golden gazes at "clown" Holly Harman.

Waiting for fellow "punk rockers," Barb Sisler, Patti Blocher, and Cris Selby take a moment to rest.

As imaginations flared and ideas were formed, the various dress-up days were filled with a multitude of costumes. The dress-up days were provided to spark spirit for the Hancock and Southern games. For the Hancock game a "spook Hancock" day was designed. The costumes varied from clowns to Tidy Bowl men. For the Southern game a week of original dress was designated. One such day was "punk day" which brought on much controversy. Students dressed in their renditions of the punk rock fad.

Diane Hetrick Presides

The queen and her court take a moment to capture the excitement of the evening.

The Snowball dance sponsored by the Lettermen was held January 8. The Lettermen nominated candidates, and the week before the dance the student body voted for the queen and her court. The queen was Diane Hetrick, who was escorted by John Savage. Diane's court consisted of senior princess Christy Fratz, escorted by her brother Brent, junior princess Kim Habel, escorted by Roy Miller, and freshmen princess Karen Weimer, escorted by Scott Graham. Top 40 music was provided by Dan Daniels of WXIE radio station.

As Snowball Queen

As a hush falls over the crowd, escort John Savage presents Snowball queen Diane Hetrick.

Seniors Christy Fratz and Diane Hetrick share the feeling of triumph upon receiving the titles of senior princess and Snowball queen, respectively.

In anticipation of a successful turnout, the Lettermen's Club publicizes the Snowball Dance.

Christmas Concert

In hopes of a successful presentation, Sherri Golden tunes up the band.

Illustrating "Ten Lords a Leaping," Brad Yoder performs his gallant leap during the Student Council's rendition of "The Twelve Days of Christmas."

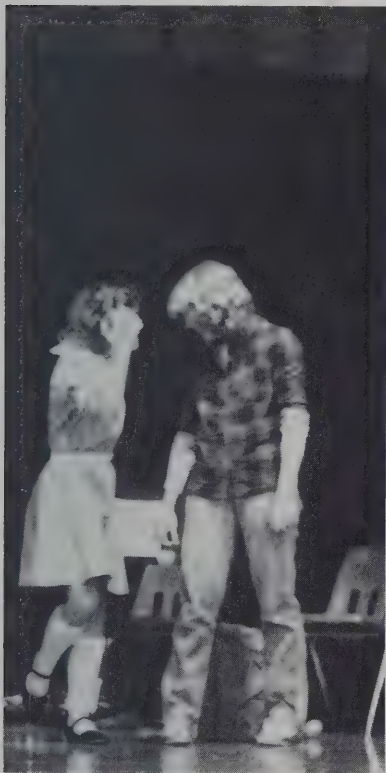

The band, the chorus, and the Student Council contributed their part in spreading tidings for the Christmas holiday. After lengthy and tedious hours of rehearsal, the band and chorus performed a variety of Christmas music and also included variations in music other than the traditional Christmas arrangements. The Student Council presented a comical version of "The Twelve Days of Christmas," prior to leading the student body in a sing-along of customary Christmas carols.

With a glimpse of hope "orphans" Laura Stanton and Anita Zehr set the mood for Annie."

Articulates Spirit

Using intensive expression, Becki Tacket shows her mock disapproval of Laura Stanton's "A Partridge in a Cherry Tree."

Along with her "orphan family," Annie (Becki Tacket) portrays the life of an abandoned child.

Exhibiting their many talents, members of the Student Council revise an old Christmas carol.

Students Exhibit

Twirling her way into third place, Sherri Golden gives an elegant performance to "MacArthur Park."

On their climb to first place and to the Students' Choice Award, Amy Wellborn, Mary Humberson, Jamie

Spiker, and Dwylin Miller band together to perform "Stairway to Heaven."

Gently stroking the ivories, Laura Stanton vocalizes "Just You and I."

Finesse

Reviewing the twelve years of school, Linda Yunker's comedy skit is enacted by Holly Harman, Bev Miller, Judy Green, Tracy Sweene, Linda Yunker, Anita Zehr, Kathy Shives, JoAnn Durst, Sherri Golden, Christy Fratz, Cindy Friend, Libby McCrobie, and Sheila Wagner.

Performing a duet with Laura Stanton, Anita Zehr sings "The Trumpet of Jesus."

The annual Talent Show was filled with an array of acts. First place was captured with "Stairway to Heaven" sung by Amy Wellborn, who was accompanied by Mark Humberson, Jamie Spiker, and Dwylin Miller. Laura Stanton's singing "Just You and I" succeeded in winning second place. While she twirled her way into the hearts of many, Sherri Golden captured third place. There were also comedy skits and other singing acts to complete another successful talent show.

Demonstrating their talent as a duet, Amy Wellborn and Sherri Golden sing "Enough is Enough."

Students Welcome -

As Florence expresses her views to Fairy May, Jeffery chooses a book.

Showing the scars of her mother's revenge, Lily Belle loses all patience with Mrs. Savage.

Preparing the setting, students from Maggie Pratt's art class, Steve Wilburn and Annette Knox, add the final touches.

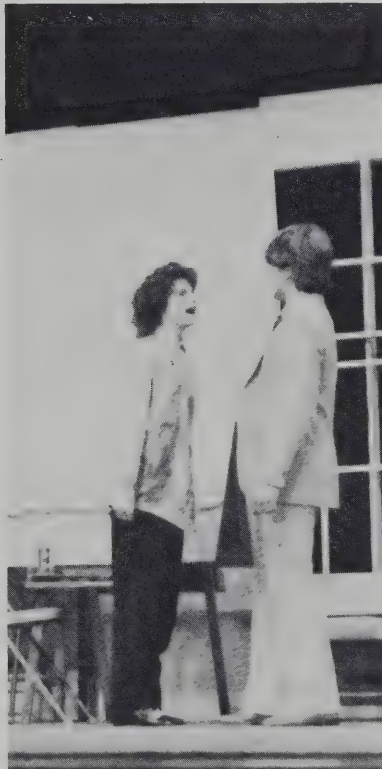

"Curious Savage"

Accusing Miss Willy of the thievery, Titus searches for any possible solution.

In consultation with Dr. Emmett, Mrs. Savage explains that Mrs. Paddy couldn't be the culprit of the stolen bonds.

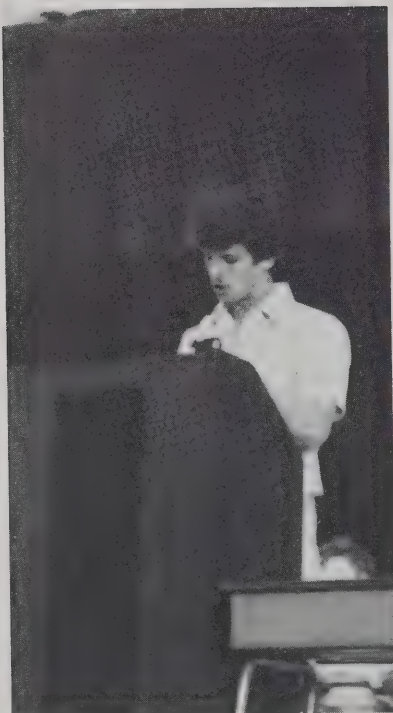

Upon Titus' visit to the hospital, Mrs. Paddy expresses her "hates."

Adding a touch of spice and variety to the school year, the drama class sponsored a play called "The Curious Savage." The cast consisted of LuAnn Hartly as Mrs. Savage, Amy Wellborn as Fairy May, Cris Selby as Florence, Shari Broom as Mrs. Paddy, Becki Tacket as Miss Willy, Lisa Zuckerman as Dr. Emmett, Steve Wilburn as Jeff, Todd Bashore as Hannibal, Scott Watkins as Titus, Randy McCord as Samuel, and Kate Klotzbaugh as Lilly Belle. The play was performed for the student body and a public performance was held in the evening.

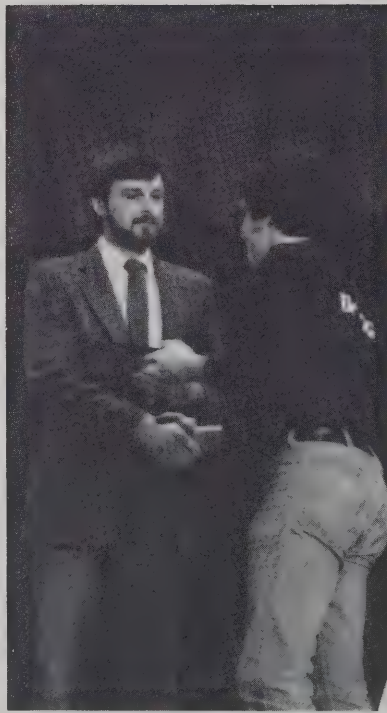

Students Recognized

Being a vital part of the baseball team, statisticians Anita Zehr, Sherri Golden, Amy Wellborn, and Miranda Hicks receive certificates and pins.

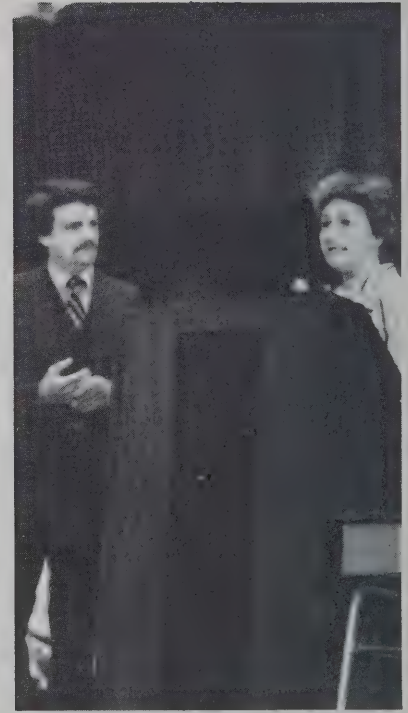

The annual Awards Assembly was held in May to honor outstanding students for academics, athletics, and vocations. A special award was given to Mr. Ed Green for his successful year as principal. The first student west of Baltimore to receive the Association of School Business Officials Award was Julie Warnick. Linda Yunker received the Elbert Buckel Americanism Award, and she was also honored with various other awards. The Awards Assembly concluded the 1983 school year for the seniors and encouraged underclassmen to excel in their field of interest.

Introducing honored guests, Scott Graham carries out his duties as Student Council President.

Accepting the highest choral award, Dwylin Miller is honored for his four years of hard work and dedication.

Honoring Mr. Ed Green for a successful first year at N.H.S., Mrs. Mary Frantz awards him a plaque.

For Achievements

For the newly developed golf team, awards are presented by Coach Jeff Jackson.

In recognition of his outstanding basketball career, Brad Yoder receives the Pepsi-Cola Award as the Cumberland Times "Co-Player of the Year."

The John Philip Sousa Award, the highest band award, is bestowed on Sherri Golden.

"You Can

Junior Class President, Lisa Zuckerman, welcomes everyone to the 1983 Jr.-Sr. Prom.

On behalf of the Sr. Class, President Linda Yunker thanks the Jr. Class for their time and efforts in creating the Prom.

Going through the buffet line, Prom-goers choose from a variety of gourmet foods.

Do Magic"

Pam Broom is crowned Prom Queen
by Principal Mr. Edward Green.

The 1983 Jr.-Sr. Prom was held at The Silver Tree Inn in McHenry on May 14. Pictures were taken by Ruhl Studios before the dinner. After the dinner Master of Ceremonies, Scott Watkins, introduced those at the head table and honored guests. Bringing the night to a close, Sherri Golden, Christy Fratz, Linda Yunker, Pam Broom, and Patti Blocher were announced as candidates and Pam Broom was crowned Prom Queen. Music was provided by "Windfall."

Dancing to "Windfall" gave Troy Margroff, Tammy Broadwater, Karen Weimer, and Scott Graham a chance to unwind after dinner.

Pep Rallies Psyche

In a mimic of a "punk rock" cheerleader, Becki Tacket contributes her part in the varsity cheerleader's skit for the football pep rally

The time, energy, and talents of many were unified to produce pep rallies for the football, volleyball, and basketball teams. Conducive to building school spirit, the band, the drill team, the feature twirlers and the cheerleaders staged their skills to psyche team players and fans alike. The football pep rally was held to boost the players' spirits when they faced Southern on their way to states. The volleyball pep rally was organized to support the volleyball team when they headed for district tournaments. There was also a basketball pep rally to psyche the basketball players when they traveled to Southern to take revenge on Northern's biggest rival.

"Getting it together," the band prepares for the basketball pep rally.

Winning Teams

Varsity cheerleaders provide the "coming through" for the varsity football players.

Entertaining the volleyball players, the drill team performs a successful routine to "7-Up."

Putting in a little practice, the cheerleaders polish their poses.

Graduation - A

Reverend Fred Illick bestows the invocation upon the 1983 graduating class.

Being a part of the hustle and bustle, Darren Kamp, Troy Margroff, and Bill

Uphold make last minute adjustments on caps and gowns.

Graduation exercises for the Class of 1983 were held on May 22 at 8:00 p.m. Reverend Fred Illick gave the invocation following Mr. Ed Green's welcome. Linda Yunker, President of the Class of 1983 presented the mantle to Jeff Graham, President of the Class of 1984. Valedictorian Linda Yunker and Salutatorian Tracey Sweeney gave speeches. Diplomas were awarded by Mrs. Beverly Murphy. Music throughout the program was provided by the N.H.S. chorus.

To start the graduation exercises, Glenn Artice and Tracy Dyche begin the senior procession.

New Beginning

Valedictorian Linda Yunker delivers her speech of hope and encouragement for the future.

For their fine leadership and citizenship, Mr. Ed Green presents Brad Yoder and Linda Yunker the "I Dare You" Awards.

Preparing for the seniors' final departure, Mr. Ed Green and Mr. Robert Yunker give recommendations for diplomas.

The 1983 graduating class share a final moment of past, present, and future dreams.

Candidates Capture Hearts Of Many

Collecting the largest sum of money, Bernice Edgar is crowned Heart Fund Queen.

During the 1983 Heart Fund Campaign, sponsored by the Western Heart Fund Association, the Heart Fund Queen candidates collected over $1000. Each club nominated and supported one girl to represent their club and to compete for the title of queen by collecting the most money. The campaign ran for two weeks and the Student Council held a dance to wrap up the Heart Fund drive. The queen was crowned and runners-up were announced during the dance. Bernice Edgar was crowned queen. Her court consisted of those girls who collected the next four highest amounts of money. Each runner-up received a necklace in appreciation for her hard work.

Crowning the 1983 Heart Fund Queen is the 1982 queen and runners-up; first runner-up Sherri Golden, second runner-up Sandy Friend, third runner up Autumn Frazee, and fourth runner-up Lisa Beal share the glory with the new queen.

Decisions, decisions! Many seniors contemplated entering college after high school graduation. Choosing the ideal college was often a confusing ordeal. Representatives from several colleges visited college-bound seniors in Mr. Thomas' office in order to make the decision less complicated. Financial aid, scholarship possibilities, courses offered, and rooming were among the many considerations discussed between the college representatives and seniors.

The senior party, held on December 3, provided an evening of fun, dance, and refreshments for those who attended the annual event. Seniors participated in a variety of activities, such as ping-pong, volleyball, and basketball. Refreshments served included a meat and cheese tray, potato chips, pretzels, mints, soft drinks, and two cakes decorated with the names of seniors. As a souvenir, each seniors' name was printed on a paper balloon and hung on a wall in the cafeteria. Mark Humberson, a senior, served as the DJ providing music for those who cared to dance or simply listen to the records.

Seniors Terri Grove and Denise Friend reveal their interest upon obtaining graduation materials.

On the morning of April 7, during second period, seniors filed into the cafeteria to receive their graduation materials from Josten's. Members of the executive and activities committees distributed caps, gowns, name cards, announcements, thank you notes, and appreciation gifts to the soon-to-be graduates. The graduating class of '83 cap and gown colors were light blue for the girls and dark blue for the boys.

Seniors, Brad Yoder and Scott Graham, aid in the construction of the school's Christmas wreath.

Several important decisions are made during one's senior year. Graduation, college, and future careers were among the many considerations that weighed upon the minds of seniors. Added responsibilities, opportunities and privileges also prevailed during the senior year. Leadership positions were held by seniors in the majority of clubs and sports, as well as in The Student Council, Squad Captains and teacher assistants were also predominantly seniors.

Serving as a page in the Maryland House of Delegates, Linda Yunker had the opportunity to see political workings inside the doors of the House. During the first week, February 17-21, Linda viewed the inauguration and swearing in of Governor Hughes and was present when Governor Hughes gave the State of the State Address to a joint session of the House and Senate. In the second week, March 28-April 1, Linda became more actively involved in the governmental process by filling bill books, running errands, delivering messages and standing door duty.

Carrying a change of clothing for cruise aboard the Gateway Clipper, Cindy Friend and Christy Fratz cross the parking lot to board the bus.

The traditional senior parade was held on the morning of May 18. Blaring horns, blue and gold streamers, and excited, shouting seniors were among the signs which indicated graduation was near. Seniors departed on the morning of May 19 for a trying but fun-filled day in the rain at Kennywood Park, and a relaxing three-hour tropical dinner cruise on the Gateway Clipper.

The Early College Admissions Program opened new dimensions for four students. These students, Kathy Baker, Eric Brobst, Jana Harshman, and Brian Wachter, attended Garrett Community College on a full-time basis and experienced a taste of college life. They benefitted from this program by getting a head start in college.

Class Prayer

by: Cindy Friend

Dear Heavenly Father,

We are coming to the end of many years that we have spent together. We thank You for helping us through these years of growing up and learning together. We look to the past at all the splendid memories, and we look towards the future to work toward our goals in life. We ask that You be with each of us and guide us in the right direction. Help us to realize that graduation is not the closing of a door on our teenage years, but the opening of a door to a new beginning. We pray that You will be with us through the many joys of graduating from Northern High School and the many sorrows of parting and saying good-bye to some of our dearest friends. You have helped us through many struggles, especially this past year. We pray that You will continue Your guidance and love when we turn down our separate roads. Be with us now in our moments of joy, and be with all of us forever. In the name of Your loving Son we pray.

Amen.

Graduation —

During the graduation exercise, salutatorian Tracey Sweene gives her farewell speech.

Recipients of the "I Dare You" Award and the United States Army Reserve National Scholar/Athlete Award were Linda Yunker and Bradley Yoder. Linda was also selected Outstanding Student, as was Scott Graham, right.

Wishing Jeff Graham the best of luck in his 1984 presidency, Linda Yunker, 1983 Class President, passes on the senior class mantle.

As the seniors dress for the commencement exercises, Heather Fike helps Jeanne Kissner adjust her collar.

Last Senior Activity

On May 22, senior Scott Graham is awarded his diploma by Mrs. Beverly Murphy as platform guests Mr. Robert Yunker and principal Mr. Edward Green look on.

On May 22 the class of 1983 participated in graduation—their last activity as an entire class. The class was academically led by Linda Yunker, valedictorian, and Tracey Sweene, salutatorian. Following the valedictorian and salutatorian addresses, Mr. Edward Green, principal, presented awards and recognized seniors that had received various scholarships. Mr. Edward Green delivered the recommendations for diplomas, and diplomas were awarded by Mrs. Beverly Murphy. Twelve senior chorus members joined the remainder of the chorus in singing "The Way We Were" and "Yesterday Once More." The invocation and benediction were given by Reverend Fred Illick.

As the ceremony begins, the graduating seniors stand in alphabetical order.

Seniors Participate In Varied Activities

For the benefit of special classes, Luke Maust and Randy Meyers hang wire for the television antenna.

As a member of the Senior Class Activities Committee, Cindy Friend attends a meeting about the senior trip.

Northern's traditional offer of Early Graduation was not obtainable by the Junior Class. Because of the change from seven-period days to six-period days, the Class of 1984 was the first class that could not have the 20 credits needed for graduation by the end of their third year in high school. Though the majority of students in the past did not apply for Early Graduation, the lack of this opportunity hindered some students whose goals were to complete high school early and to move on into careers or college.

Reviving the tradition of presenting a school play, numerous students helped with the preparation for and presentation of "The Curious Savage." The juniors in the cast were Carissa Selby, Lisa Zuckerman, Amy Wellborn, Scott Watkins, Randy McCord, Kate Klotzbaugh, Becki Tacket, and Todd Bashore. These actors, with the help of other cast members and of the backstage crew, made up of juniors Mike K. Thomas, Lani Dailey, Vance Schroyer, and Dawn Humberson, gave the play in two presentations to students and in an evening public performance.

Members Bring Distinction To Junior Class

Members of the junior class actively participated in various organizations and activities. Representatives to state meetings and organizations included Doug Bittinger as a delegate to the Governor's Youth Advisory Council and David Brandes, who attended the MD Junior Science Symposium in March. Others gained distinction in leadership, in academics, in sports, and as royalty. Lisa Zuckerman served as Vice-President of the Student Council, Scott Watkins was high scorer on the National Social Studies Olympiad test in U.S. history, David Georg broke the school field goal record in football, and Kim Habel reigned as Winterfest X Queen and was elected eleventh grade Snowball Princess.

As Junior Class advisers, Mr. Gerald Snelson and Mr. Martin Green worked with the class officers in conducting class meetings, in funding projects and in planning for the Junior-Senior Prom.

Life on a farm includes various jobs the year around. During the summer, grass needs to be mowed, raked, baled, and stored for wintertime feed. In winter, since the cows are kept in, they need to be fed and milked, and manure must be hauled out. Crops need to be planted early in the spring, then harvested and stored in the fall. Contrary to the pattern of most Garrett County winters, this winter began with such warm weather that farmers could save much of their store of feed while the cattle remained grazing in the fields.

In the evenings, Sheila Bender bottle-feeds the calves.

In contrast to the usual ninth grade courses, the electives available to sophomores gave students a better chance to pursue personal interests. Along with these electives, the usual courses taken by tenth graders to fill the requirements for graduation included English, World History, Biology, and a math course.

Entering high school brought out many new aspects of education for the ninth graders. Among the many new experiences of high school life, "filling the teacher's shoes" proved to be challenging for the ninth graders in Mrs. Valerie Frazee's Earth Science Prep. class. Through preparation for presenting lessons, the students gained empathy for teachers. Free to conduct classes as they saw fit, students realized that adequate preparation is not sufficient without discipline. Other new opportunities for ninth graders included participation in various sports, the drill team and cheerleading.

Once they walked through the doors of Northern High School, the freshmen began their long journey towards graduation. They were required to take various credited courses, which over the four years of their high school stay, would add up to meet the requirements of graduation. English, math, physical education, science, and social studies were the main courses that freshmen would encounter to receive their diplomas.

FACULTY

Administration Undergoes

Mr. Edward Green
Principi

The administration underwent a change as Mr. J. Kenneth Bittinger, principal for seven years, resigned from his position to become Supervisor of Vocational Education in Garrett County. He was relieved from performing double duty as principal and supervisor when Mr. Edward Green took over on September 13, 1982. Mr. Green acquired all the usual responsibilities of a principal, with the added task of planning for renovation of the school. Mr. Green met numerous times with teachers and staff to discuss ideas for the renovation.

Mrs. Elizabeth Deem
Courses: Math, Algebra II

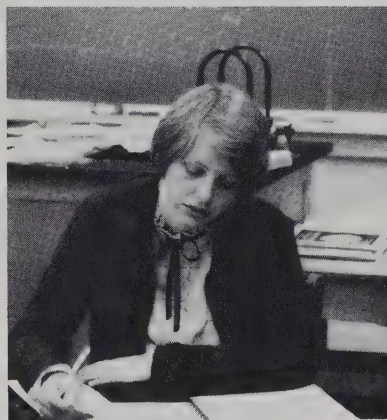

Mr. Donald Douds
Courses: Driver Education
Activities: Athletic Director

In addition to planning for the classes that they teach, Mrs. Debra Alkire, Mrs. Linda Buckel, and Mr. Gerald Snelson are among the teachers who must prepare for classes in which they, themselves, are enrolled. In pursuit of her master's degree in elementary education, Mrs. Debra Alkire attends evening classes at Frostburg State College. Mrs. Linda Buckel also takes courses at Frostburg State in hopes of attaining her master's degree in reading. Graduate school proves to be challenging for Mr. Gerald Snelson, who is studying towards a doctorate in education through the University of Maryland. Far beyond what most students realize, teachers acknowledge and can identify with the anxieties associated with being a student.

Numerous instructors supplemented classroom lessons with enlightening field trips to various sites. Miss Anna May Norris' French students attended a French-Spanish concert at Oakland, PA in November. Some of Mr. Harold Loughrie's Vo.-Ag. students participated in the State Soil Judging Contest in October, and others in the FFA National Convention in November. Mr. James Boord sent representatives to the Maryland All-State Chorus in October. In representation of Mrs. Valerie Frazee's chemistry class, David Brandes plans to attend the annual Science Symposium in Baltimore in March. Other planned spring trips include: a Gettysburg trip for Mrs. Vonda Yunker's students who show interest in U.S. History; an FHA trip with Mrs. Joanny Martin; and an art trip to Baltimore Museum and Walter's Art Gallery with Mrs. Margaret Pratt. Educational as well as enjoyable, field trips have added insight to everyday classroom studies, and have allowed teachers to provide students with a first hand prospective of the subject being studied.

Devoted faculty members were key factors in keeping the winning spirit alive and radiating in the school's sports program. Doubling as coaches, Mr. Russell Settle, Mr. Clinton McKenzie, Mr. Harvy Speicher, Mr. Jack Lear, Mr. Robert Yunker, and Mrs. Vonda Yunker have devoted countless hours vigorously preparing team members for games. In preparation for pep rallies, sports events, and field shows, Mr. James Boord has dedicated much of his after-school time supervising band practice. In addition, several teachers have proved to be loyal Husky fans by regularly attending the games as spectators.

Traveling from school to school is routine for several teachers and aides. Mrs. Elizabeth Wellborn instructs family life classes at the Northern Middle School and Northern High School during the full school year. In addition, she teaches family life at the Bloomington Elementary School in the spring and at the Yoder Elementary School in the fall on alternate years.

Trowell trades teacher, Mr. Harold Humberson, instructs morning classes at Northern and travels to Southern for afternoon classes.

Providing health services, Mrs. Carol Clark aids students at both Northern and Southern.

Mrs. Katherine Douglass also visits Northern and Southern as the Coordinating Resource Teacher of the VSST.

Service Personnel Cook, Clean, And Carry

Devoting much of their time to cleaning the school, preparing lunches for students and teachers, and transporting students to and from school, the service personnel is an essential part of the school system.

Keeping within the budget limits, the cafeteria staff does their best to satisfy students with both hot lunches and a variety-filled salad bar.

The custodians not only maintain the clean appearance of the school, but also take the time to make small repairs in desks, chairs, window blinds, and the like.

The bus drivers certainly deserve recognition for their ability to drive through foul winter weather, and for their discipline of rowdy passengers.

ACADEMICS

Drama Class Enriches

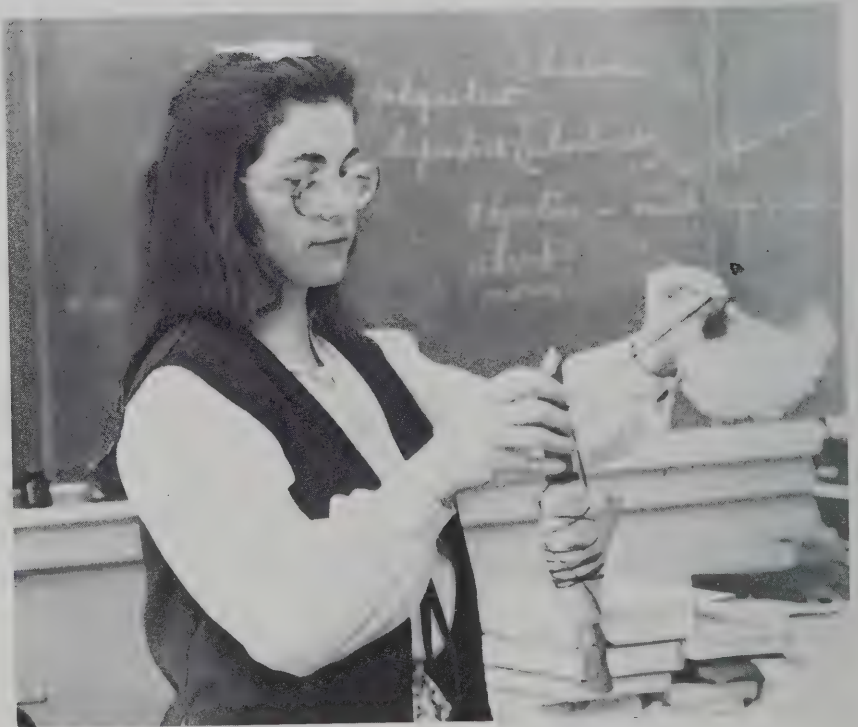

Reading an announcement for the Advanced Reading class' tribute to Maryland Reading Week, Anita Zehr projects her voice over the P.A. system.

Aiding in the special effects for the school play, Drama student Bill Snelson adjusts the lights.

A weekly trip to the library gives Randy Yommer time to explore the selection of library books.

As a guest speaker to the American Folklore class, Mrs. Ruth Ruggiero demonstrates techniques of spinning and gives instructions for combing and carding wool.

Language Curriculum

For her French III term project, Rebecca Tacket gives an oral presentation on Zadig, a book written by Voltaire.

Out of their three-week stay in Garrett County, French Foreign Exchange students Luc Lethuillier, Fabrice Wenger, Jerome Poret, Christian Jacques, and Patrick Houlbreque spend one day meeting new people at N.H.S.

A change in the English curriculum resulted in reinstatement of a drama class. After creating hand and mouth puppets, the class was instructed on the correct use of puppets and also created characters for their puppets. A study of history of drama entailed reviewing famous Greek plays, works by William Shakespeare, and modern plays. The class also studied pantomime and dealt with stagefright and self-consciousness.

On November 2, twenty French students traveled to Pittsburgh to attend a French-Canadian rock concert at the Sailors' and Soldiers' Memorial. In May, French students joined the Art Classes in a trip to Baltimore where they viewed works by French Impressionists.

Students Strive To

Researching an assignment for his Contemporary Problems class, Glenn Artice pages through a magazine.

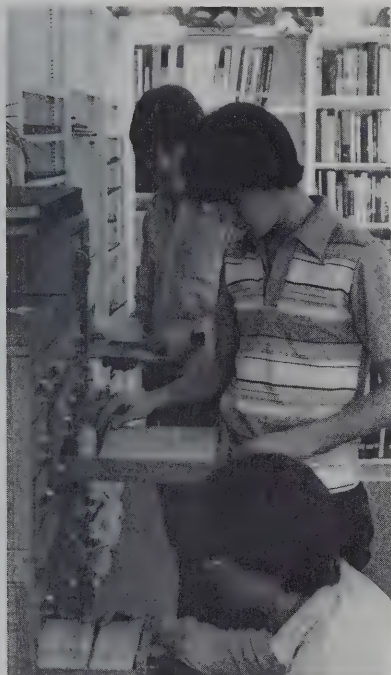

Skimming through the grade book, Dr. Jerome Ryscavage randomly chooses students to whom he directs his question.

World History students discuss and review the answers to a homework assignment on World War I.

Enhance Aptitudes

Finding references for their Algebra II term papers, Dan Holtschneider, Brad Yoder, and Seth Brandes research topics in the card catalog.

Using a compass in geometry class, Bill Lanphear works on constructions and loci.

Studying a unit on income taxes, Business Math students Rhonda Sisler, Christine Rounds, Ron Kamp, and Gary Frantz practice filling out 1040-A Forms.

Students in the Social Studies curriculum enhanced their aptitudes by studying subjects ranging from Psychology to the history of the United States government. Application of knowledge and creativity in Mrs. Vonda Yunker's U.S. History classes resulted in construction of newspapers from the 1920's era. Projects in Psychology classes included experiments in emotional development as well as in how people perceive one another.

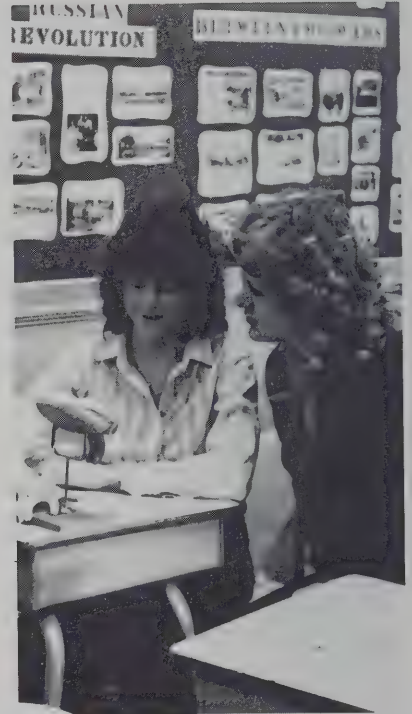

The Math Department offered an assortment of courses to help students acquire further comprehension in selected areas of study. The trigonometry class had the opportunity to operate and learn the functions of the computer, and the Algebra II students once again were required to write research papers on famous mathematicians.

Students Display Projects

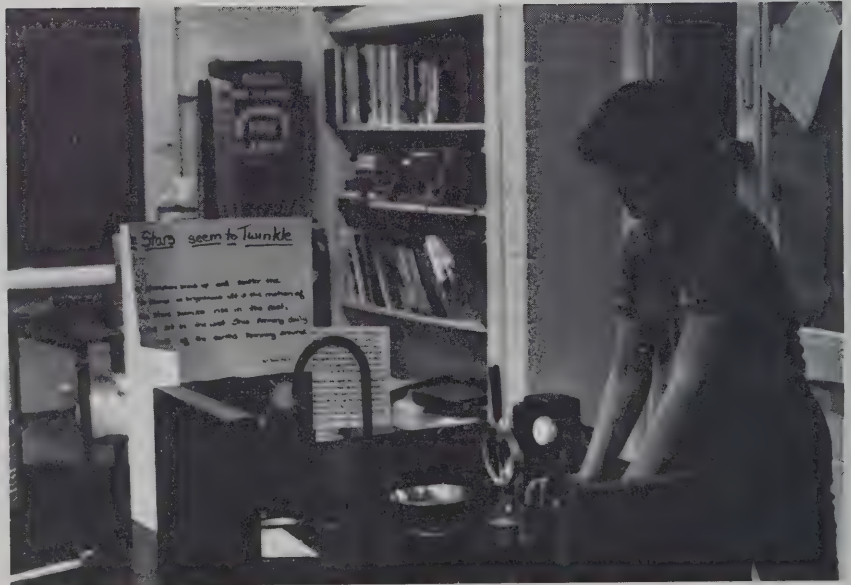

Studying her chemistry project, Lisa Zuckerman examines the effects of cigarette smoke on the blood.

Family Living students Gina King and Lani Dailey learn the positions of the human fetus.

During a dissection in biology class, Courtney Rounds delicately prepares his subject for further study.

Before the Excellence Fair, Karen Frank sets up her Earth Science project showing the reason stars twinkle.

At Excellence Fair

To learn the process of blood typing, Anatomy and Physiology students Gloria Maust and Lillian Bender prepare a drop of blood to examine under the microscope.

Sending electrical currents through an electric system, Robin Frazee and Marie Kline explain their physics project to Julie Warnick.

Students in Mrs. Valerie Frazee's and Mr. Eugene Pustolski's science classes participated in the annual Excellence Fair, held on May 3. Those students enrolled in either Chemistry, Physics, Earth Science, or Health constructed and displayed a variety of science-related projects. The entries were judged on originality, neatness, effort, accuracy, and organization, and each participating student received a white, red, or blue ribbon, according to the number of points awarded by the judges.

Journalism Stimulates

Designing posters for the yearbook campaign, Mike Thomas, Sherri Golden, Holly Harman, and Cathy Wheeler discuss creative ideas.

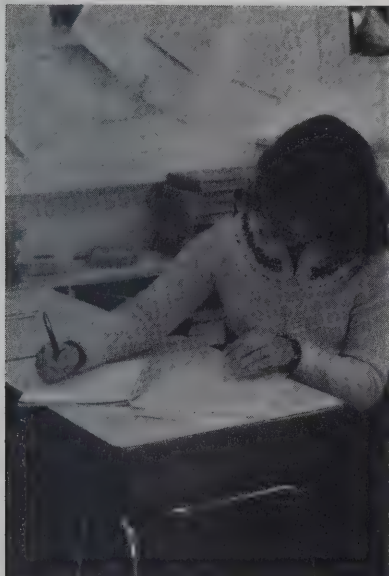

Writing in the name and amount, David Pickrel completes a yearbook order for Bobbie Bowser and Susan Teets.

For the Underclassmen section of the North Star, Melrose Hanft types copy onto a 3-C form.

Academic Growth

Writing her weekly assignment, Carissa Selby meets her Husky Halls deadline.

Realizing that placement of ads and articles is important for the outcome of the paper, Robin Frazee, Brenda Beiler, and Julie Warnick work on the Viking layout.

Examining ad positions, exchange editor Shari Broom leafs through a previous Viking issue while Stacey Rodeheaver completes her sports article.

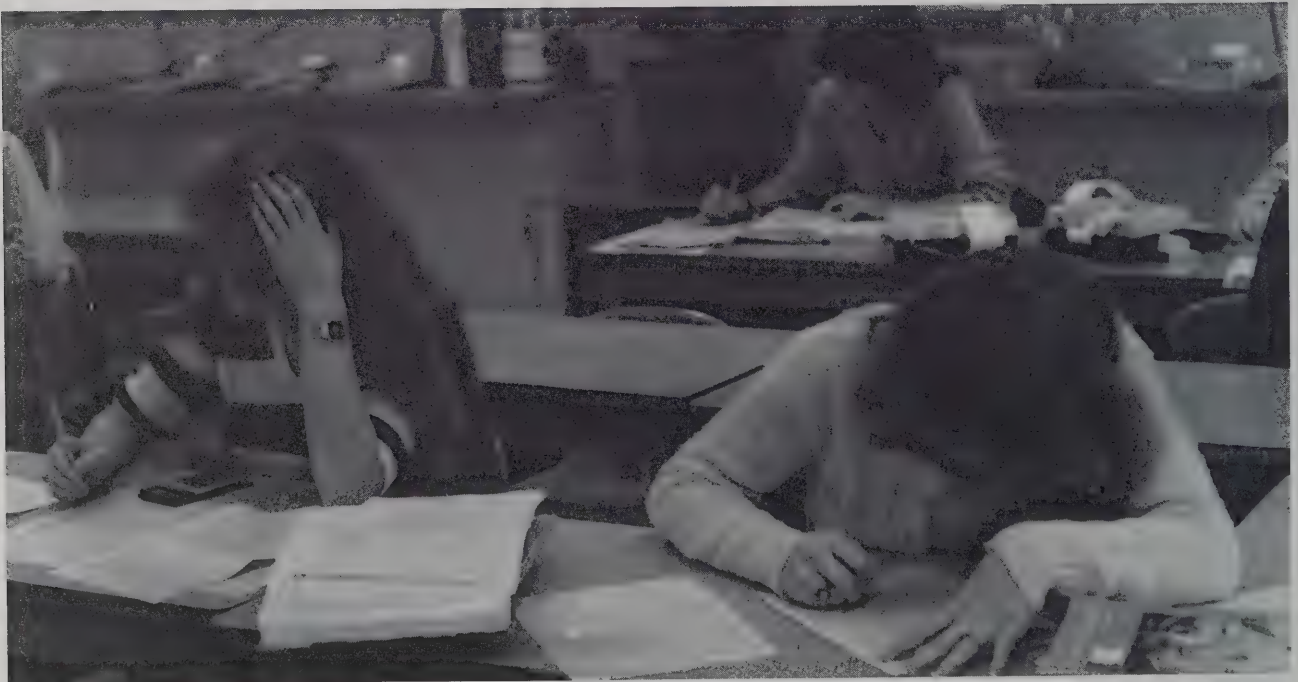

Journalism, which requires a variety of skills, was offered as an elective for academic students. The Yearbook Journalism class, under the direction of Miss Joanna Miller, had thirteen staff members, under student editor, Linda Yunker. The staff covered school activities and other areas of student interest. The Newspaper Journalism course advised by Mrs. Lucille Sines, had co-editors, Amy Wellborn and Peggy McFarland, who worked closely with the other twenty-two members in publishing seven editions of The Viking. Together, The North Star and The Viking staffs highlighted the activities of the student body.

Confidence Built By

Being able to operate various office machines is just one skill learned by Office Practice student Denise Friend.

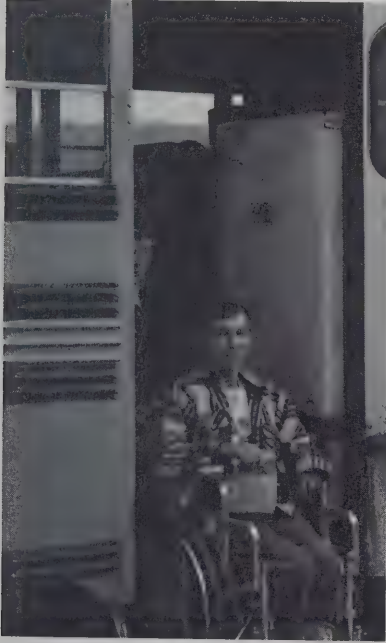

Concentrating on punching the correct keys, Typing I students Jeff Graham and Carolyn Georg practice repetitious drills.

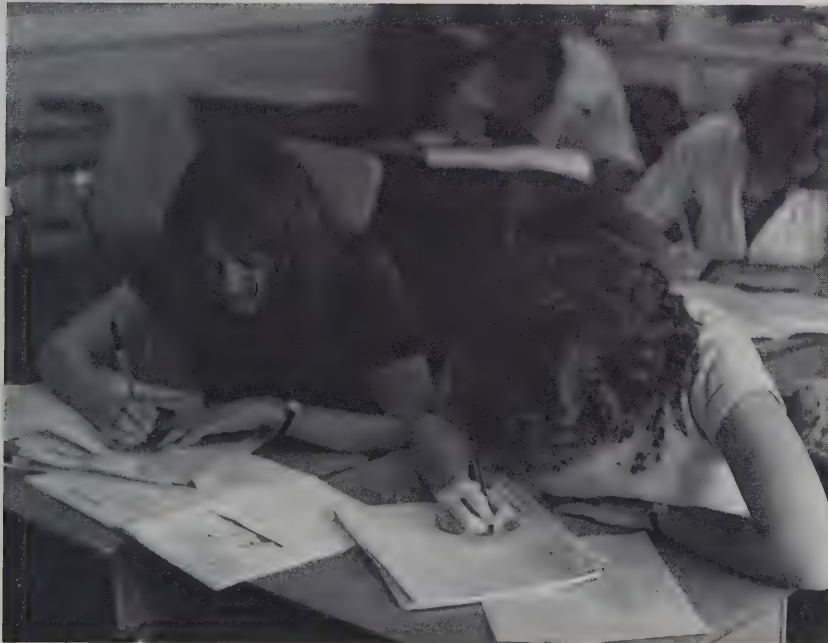

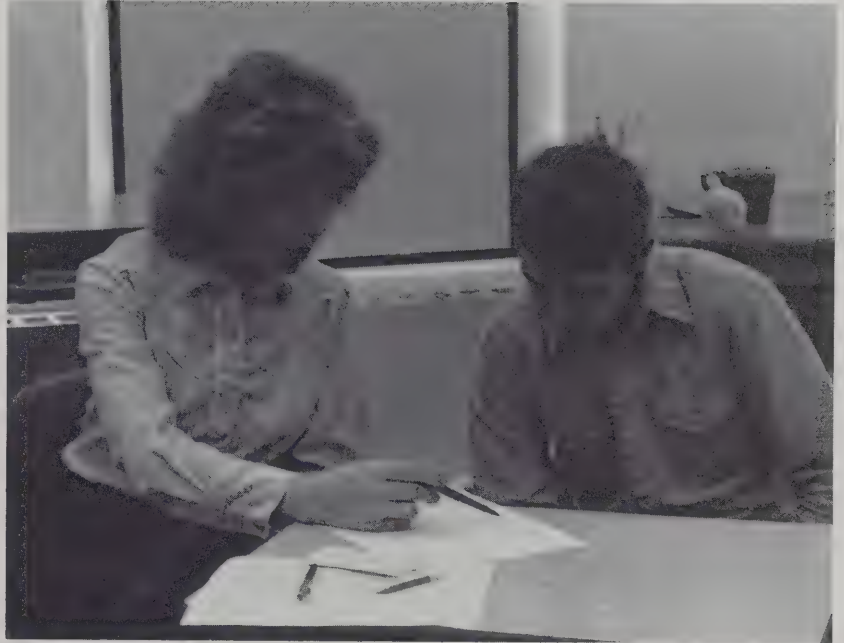

Preparing a general ledger, Vonda Handwerk and Teresa Holliday practice making entries in their Accounting workbook.

Practicing Skills

After a day of classroom work, Sheldon Yoder boards the school bus to return home.

Discussing the spelling lesson with Jeff Bittinger, Mrs. Sonya Golden points out common errors.

Completing an assignment in science class, Brenda Wilburn and Christy Pape answer questions about the human respiratory system.

To help establish a career in business, many students completed a variety of secretarial courses. Among the courses offered to students were Typing I and II, Shorthand I and II, and Recordkeeping. A year of repetitious typing and shorthand drills and completion of numerous business forms and ledgers proved valuable in helping students pursue career goals.

For students with special learning problems, Special Education classes were the setting for many classroom hours. A low student-teacher ratio allowed individual attention and offered the incentive to work for better grades. The Vocational Support Services Team once again provided support to students who needed help to succeed in vocational education.

Music Adds Competitive

Rehearsing music for the spring concert, Carol McKenzie and Sherri Golden play "Three Sketches" on their clarinets.

In preparation for future performances, Amy Wellborn directs the band's practices.

Despite the wind and cold, the Band performs its halftime field show at the Moorefield football game.

Spirit

Assisted by Debbie Jones, Marcella Yoder provides piano accompaniment to "Bird Land" for the chorus.

In the alto section, Anita Zehr, Dawn Humberson, Sharon Weimer, (front row) Betty Ross, Veronica Yoder, Angie Glotfelty, Cindy Friend, and Terri Grove provide musical harmony.

Adding interest to the vocal line, Dwylin Miller plays the bass guitar and Jamie Spiker supplies rhythm.

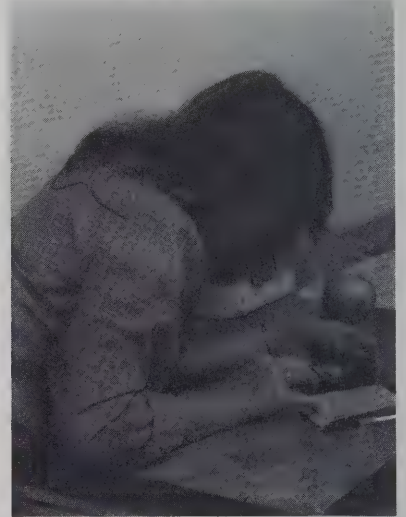

Combining their talents, musically inclined students participated in a variety of competitions and field trips. Band members auditioned for musical parts and, for the first time this fall, with the addition to the Drill Team, competed in a field show. In March the band hosted a Winter Guard competition for the second consecutive year. New additions to the chorus included a bass guitar and drums played by Dwylin Miller and Jamie Spiker. In the spring, choruses from the surrounding area traveled to Northern to be judged in the Chorus Festival. To encourage future musicians, the band and chorus combined their efforts and traveled to elementary schools in northern Garrett County.

Students Gain Knowledge

For the Christmas fruit sale, Rodney Frazee loads boxes of oranges to be delivered to buyers.

For faster, more accurate results, Annette Knox uses a calculator to total receipts.

Vocational Agriculture classes helped many students gain experience in a broad range of activities. One such activity the Vocational Agriculture Department undertook was the task of building two hay baling wagons for Robert H. Miller. After an agreement was made, the students went to work, constructing the wagons which were eighteen feet long and eight feet wide.

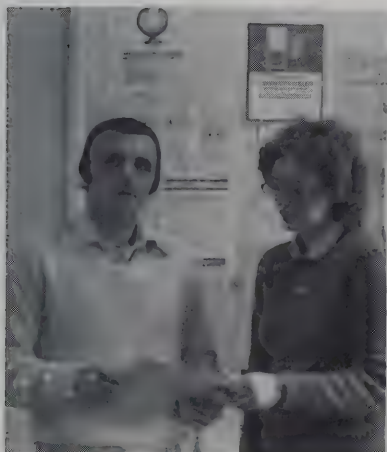

The Driver Education course was divided into two segments. Under the direction of Mr. Don Douds, students spent thirty days studying and discussing driving skills and laws. Without the use of the simulator, the second segment included on-the-road driving. Eight sessions of on-the-road-driving, under the supervision of Mr. Don Douds or Mr. Eugene Flinn, gave each student the opportunity to test knowledge and skills learned in the classroom.

For the construction of the wagons, Richard Bender and Mark Harman use a power hack saw to cut steel beams.

From Hands-On Experience

With Mr. Don Douds at his side, Jeff Eggleston prepares for another on-the-road driving trip.

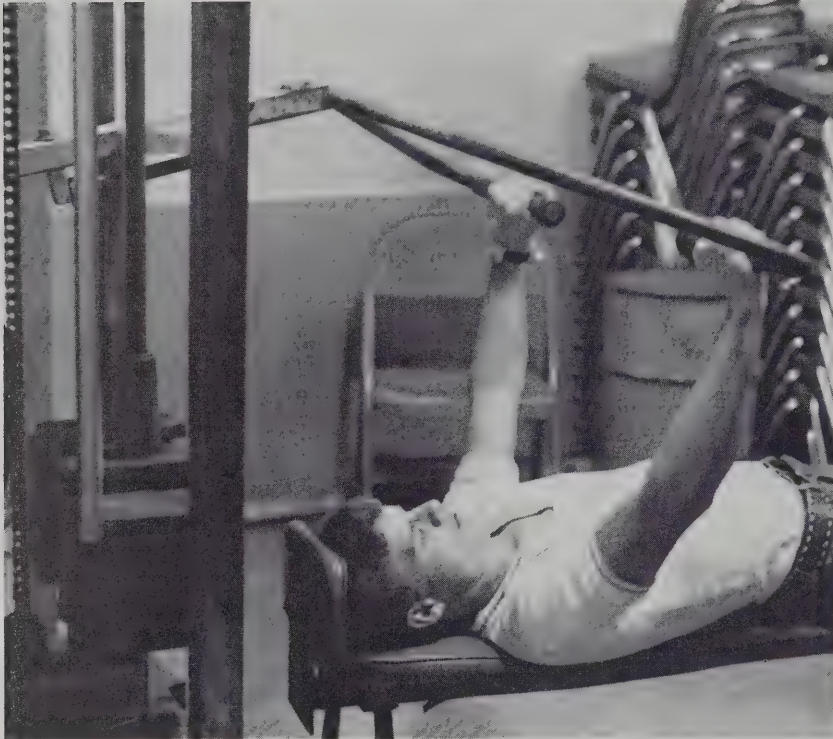

Having completed classroom, simulator, and on-the-road training, Stacey Rodeheaver receives her driving certificate from Mr. Don Douds.

As a crash course in Auto Mechanics, Mr. Don Douds points out parts of the car to Ramona Cowan and Lori Sisler.

Physical Skills Developed

Showing his strength, Dave Platter builds his muscles by lifting weights on the bench press.

In fourth period physical education class, Bill Friend attempts to shoot a foul shot.

As an opportunity to release excess energy and tension, physical education interrupted the daily routine of classwork. Students were given the freedom to relax and socialize with fellow classmates while participating in their favorite sports. With the help of student assistants, Mrs. JoAnn Robinson and Coach Harvey Speicher passed along valuable skills for keeping physically fit. Ping-Pong, badminton, weight lifting and gymnastics, along with the traditional volleyball, basketball, and softball were a few of the most popular sports offered. Although physical education was not required in all grades, it was considered an important element in student development.

As an assistant to Mr. Jack Lear, Marie Kline performs various tasks, including typing and running errands.

Art And Home Economic Courses

Focusing on the right effects of shading Brad Yoder and David Brandes work with water colors.

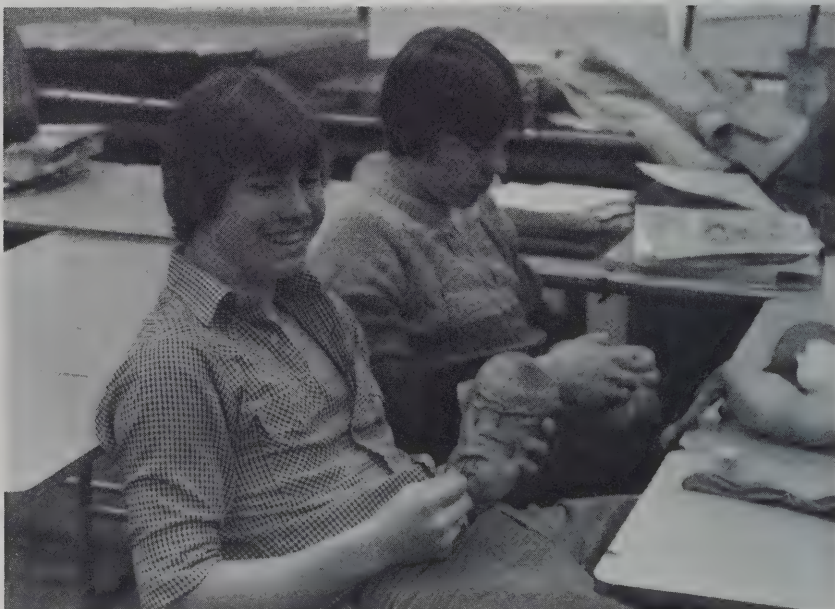

Heads above the rest, Annette Knox hangs her bird mobile which was constructed with a variety of materials.

A new project that excited creative ability for Art II and III students was soft sculpture, the process of stuffing pantyhose with fiberfill to create objects. Another project was the construction of mobiles using Japanese paper-folding, origami. Art II students studied pointillism, the process of painting by dots instead of brushing. Using fabric, cardboard, and fiberfill, Art III students made cloth picture frames.

The Senior Home Economics class kicked off events of the year by constructing models for interior design, and a four-day playschool was set up to teach mechanics of child care and entertainment of preschool children. To familiarize students with the traumas of child abuse, a program was established with talks on child abuse and skits performed by club members.

Working on their projects, Art III students Paul Frank and Mike Glotfelty create soft sculpture characters.

Excite Creative Ability

Preparing to make cookies, Keith Harman, Sandra Nugent, and Jenny Snyder check the recipe for precise measurements.

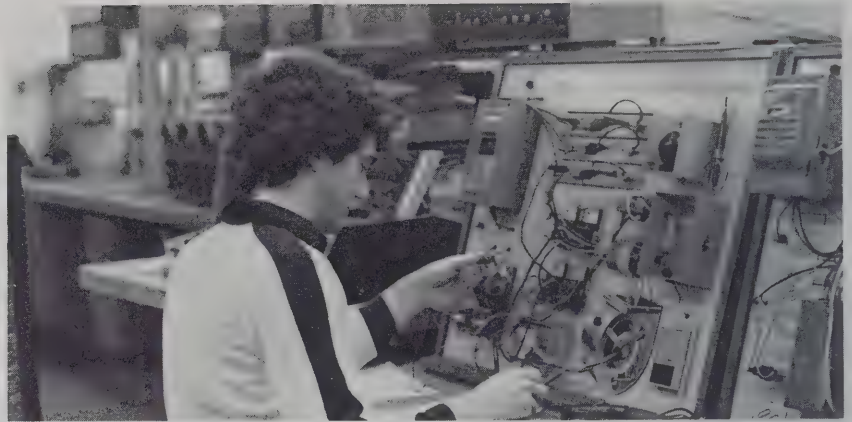

Aware of the work that goes into sewing projects, Phil Carr examines his pieces of cut material.

For Valentines Day, Home-Ec students Sandy Friend and Dee Sliger sell flowers and poems to Steve Wilburn and Terri Grove.

Special Skills Taught In

Using a volt-ohm-milliamp meter, Dave Pickrel tries to find the defect in the Electric Heat Service Trainer.

Building a fireplace, Trowel Trades students Brent Fratz and Mike Yoder arrange stones in an appealing manner.

Learning the skills of Automobile Mechanics, Kevin Snyder and Jim Swauger reconstruct the engines.

Vocational Activities

Activities practiced in the Vocational Training classes varied according to personal interest. The students explored many challenging and rewarding fields while they gained experience for future vocational careers. Projects applicable to the particular class were incorporated into the learning process and offered students hands-on experience in various fields ranging from Electronics and Auto Mechanics to Drafting.

Adding sand and other necessary ingredients, Mike Meyers mixes the cement in Trowel Trades.

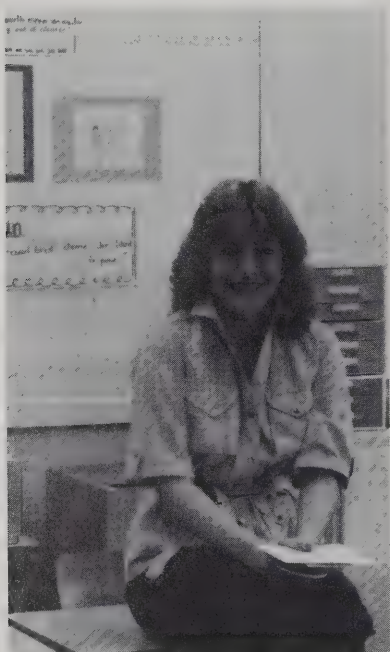

To smooth the surface of his Industrial Arts project, Richard Shuck uses a sander.

Adding a personal touch to his project, James Gurthie uses specialized tools on his bookcase.

College Courses Offer Head Start

During a break in her busy schedule Early College Admissions student Jana Harshman visits Northern to pick up her prom invitation along with graduation materials.

Programming the computer, Randy Meyers applies information learned from a computer programming course at Garrett Community College.

Attending college was just one way some students spent their spare time. Part-time courses in such diversified areas as speech, psychology, English, physical education, and computer literacy and programming, offered time for students to explore personal interests and develop talents. For four seniors, the Early College Admissions Program offered one avenue towards getting a head start on future careers. By going beyond the academic requirements of high school, such students demonstrated a positive attitude towards learning.

Considering possible sources of financial aid for college, Diane Hetrick and Patti Blocher examine the Financial Aid Form and other types of scholarship information.

The 1982 Volleyball team obtained the best record in the career of volleyball at Northern High School by achieving a 10-2 record. By defeating arch-rival Southern, Northern captured the county Championship for the third year in a row. Led by five seniors they entered district play-offs seeded in second place. With a triumphant success over Southern, but falling to Mt. Savage and Valley in close matches, they captured third place. This spectacular showing was the highest the volleyball team has ever placed in district play-offs.

Seniors: Marie Kline, Linda Yunker, Cindy Sines, Bev Miller, Christy Fratz.

Lead By Twelve Seniors

In a fourth down situation, inches from the Ram goal line, Ben Sisler catches a touchdown pass enabling Northern to defeat arch-rival Southern.

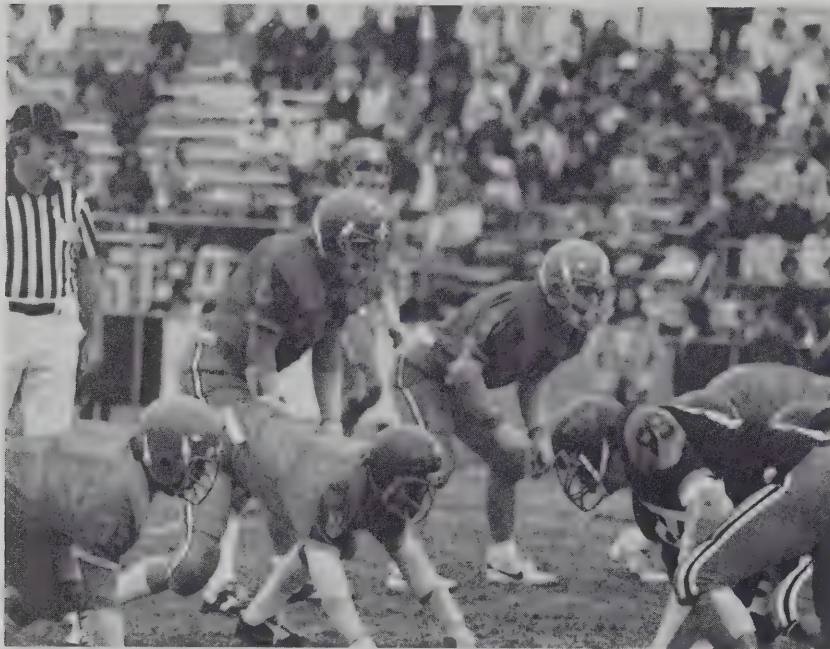

With a block by Scott Rodeheaver, Rob Carr is well on his way to setting the school record for most yards gained.

As practice for the 1982-83 football team got underway, hopes were raised in anticipation of a successful season. That successful season started out right with a win over Petersburg, 14-6. The strong Husky defense held the next four opponents scoreless. The only defeat for the football team came at the hands of Beall. Winning the next four, including Southern, gave the spectacular Huskies a 9-1 record, enabling them to capture the Class C Region I Championship.

9-1 Huskies Go To

Strong defensive play from Troy Margroff, Bill Uphold, Jim Swauger and John Swauger helped the Huskies come out on top nine of ten times during the regular season. Seen here, the four are holding back Mt. Hebron's offensive line.

The final score tells it all as Northern is victorious over Southern, allowing them to go on to district playoffs.

With anticipation of the game ahead, captains Rob Carr and John Swauger introduce themselves to the players representing Mt. Hebron.

Playoffs For First Time

Booting another extra point, Dave Georg helps the Huskies to come out victorious over Fairchance George.

Along with a 9-1 record some of the individual players on the football team were honored. Dave Georg will be noted in the record books as kicking the longest field goal; 42 yards. Rob Carr was also honored by running for 1,346 yards, the most yards gained by a player at Northern. Several players were named to the Highland Football Conference All Area Team. Named to First Team All Area were John Swauger, Scott Graham, and Rob Carr. Troy Margroff, Randy Yommer, Luke Maust, and Dave Georg were named to the Second All Area Team. The highest honor was given to Coach Jack Settle by being named Highland Football Conference Coach of the Year.

The Huskies' strong defense prepares to hold the Mt. Hebron offensive attack.

Final Record: 3-8-1

Seniors Luke Maust, Darren Kamp, and Jamie Spiker provide leadership for the wrestling squad.

Shows In Final Record

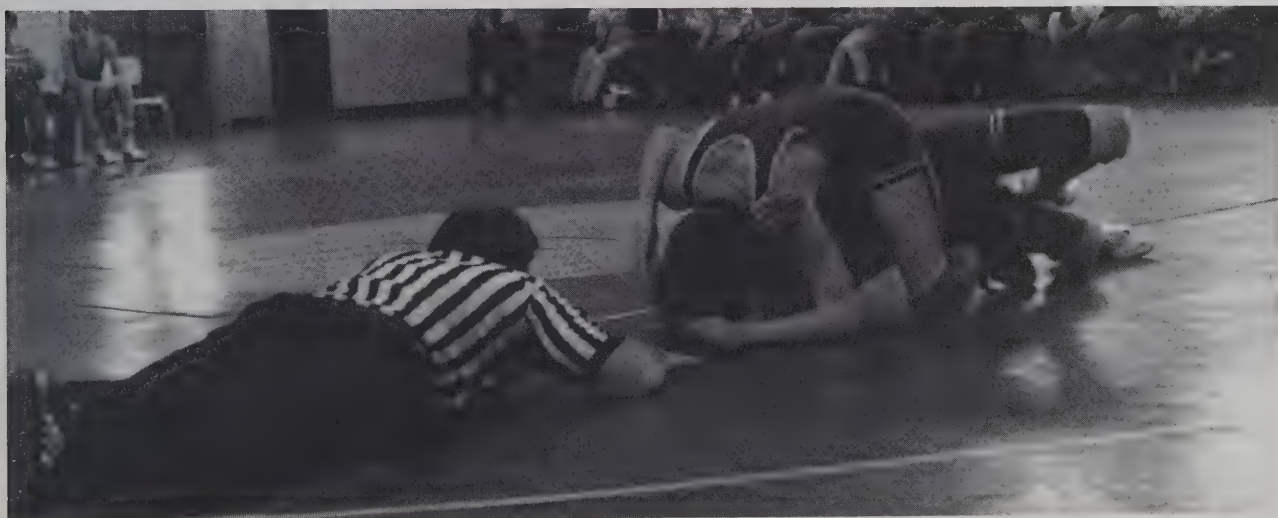

Hoisting his Ram counterpart above his head, Darren Kamp prepares to score two quick points with a takedown.

One main reason for the wrestling squads' lack of experience was the loss of several key seniors. The second cause was the installation of the new county policy stating that a sixty percent average in major classes must be obtained. Even with all their problems, the squad had some key wins over Valley, Keyser, and Berlin. Also, the match against Southern, on school time, proved to be exciting as the score ended in a tie.

Choosing the top as his starting position, John Merrbach plans to outwit his Rockwood foe.

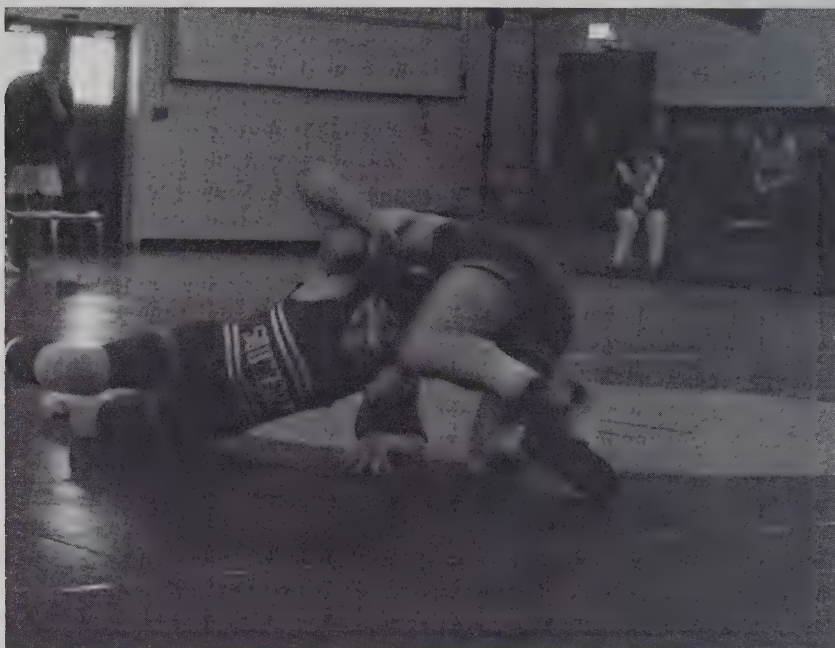

With a quick pin, Greg McKenzie defeats his Southern opponent.

On School Time, Grapplers

During the rally with Southern, Luke Maust hangs on tight to secure a Northern-Southern tie.

Three seniors led the wrestling squad. They were Darren Kamp, Luke Maust, and Jamie Spiker. Darren, a four year lettermen, had a successful season as his record was 8 wins-3 losses. Luke, a two year lettermen, helped the squad by filling either the 185 or unlimited weight class. Luke's final record was 3 wins-8 losses. Jamie Spiker, a 3 year lettermen, filled the 138 weight class. Jamie's final record was 7 wins- 2 losses, and one tie.

Grappling for a Northern victory, Courtney Rounds starts the match with an aggressive period.

Crushing his foe, Jamie Spiker looks to his coach for a little advice.

Tie With Southern

Using a half-nelson, Darren Kamp puts the final touches on his Southern rival.

The referee declares Jeff Graham the winner as Southern forfeits the 145 weight class.

Signaling a two point take down, Howard Finzel receives his well deserved points.

Girls' Basketball Finishes

Providing leadership for the team are senior members: Linda Yunker, Christy Fratz, Marie Kline, Anita Zehr, and Bev Miller.

Disappointing Season

Trying to stop Southern's offensive attack, Bev Miller and Vicki McCrobie hope to block the shot.

The 1982-1983 Girls' Basketball team fell on hard times this year. Disappointment plagued them all through the season. The closest they ever came to winning was when they only lost by ten points, against Southern twice, Bishop Walsh, and Beall. But in spite of all this Linda Yunker averaged ten points a game and was chosen to play in the Western Maryland All-Star Classic.

In hopes of scoring a quick two, Bev Miller starts the fast break against Valley.

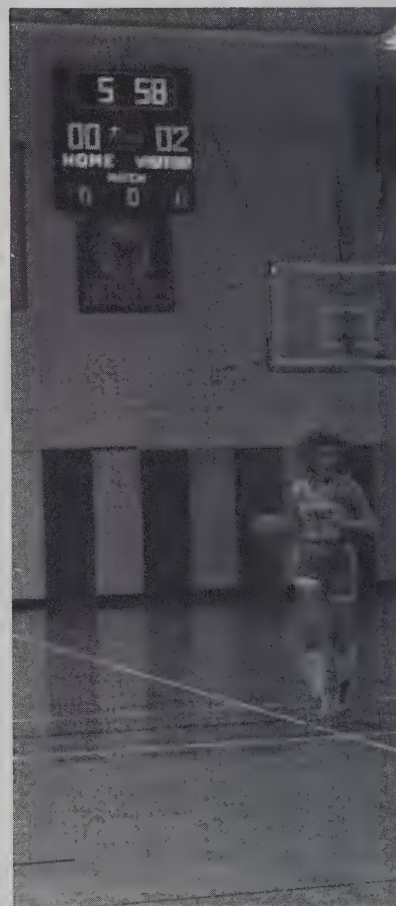

Displaying the bottom half of a 2-3 zone defense, Anita Zehr, Christy Fratz, and Carol Wilt anticipate a shot from the opposing team.

During a time-out, the girls huddle around Coach Ringer to decide their offensive attack.

Dribbling the ball down the court, Linda Yunker looks for one of her teammates.

As Anita Zehr shoots the ball, Vicki McCrobie prepares for the rebound.

Record Breaking Season For Cagers

After bucketing his 719th point of the season, Brad Yoder receives the game ball from Principal Ed Green.

Three seniors were the nucleus of the Boys' Varsity Basketball team last year. They were Brad L. Yoder, Rich Humberson, and Scott Graham. The big stand-out on the team was Brad. The 6'4", center broke the single season scoring record with 729 points. This record was previously held by Bill Bender with 616 points set in 1980. Two other accomplishments of Brad's were that he made All Tournament Team and was named as the Most Valuable Player at the Tri-Towns Christmas Tournaments.

The team accomplishments include placing second in Christmas Tournaments, having a final record of 13-11, and for Coach Speicher it was the first time Northern has beaten Valley, since he has been coaching.

another point to help the Huskies defeat Valley.

With good ball handling techniques Brad K. Yoder starts the Husky offense against Valley.

Driving in for two more points, Brad L. Yoder makes a move on his Valley opponent, as Rich Humberson sets a pick.

Lose In Overtime To Flintstone

Warming up their techniques, Brad L. Yoder and Brent Beachy get ready for an exciting game against Flintstone.

With skillful ball handling, Dave Georg executes an offensive play.

Attempting to break Flintstone's press, Phil Carr and Lamar Beiler bring the ball up the court.

Playoffs proved to be very exciting as the Boys' Basketball team rallied in the first game against Valley, to beat them 54-52. This win enabled them to return the next night to face Flintstone.

The game against Flintstone was one of the hardest games the Huskies played all year. The lead flip-flopped all night. But at the end of the fourth quarter the game was tied. Three more minutes had to be played before a winner was decided. This time Northern came up short, and lost to Flintstone 56-54.

Putting to use what they learned in practice, the Varsity Boys hold the Mt. Savage offensive attack.

In a crouched position, ready to catch, Christy Fratz awaits a pitch from Regina Canan.

Strong defense by Linda Yunker prevents runners from reaching base.

Liz Sisler crosses home plate with another run, as excited teammates urge on the baserunner.

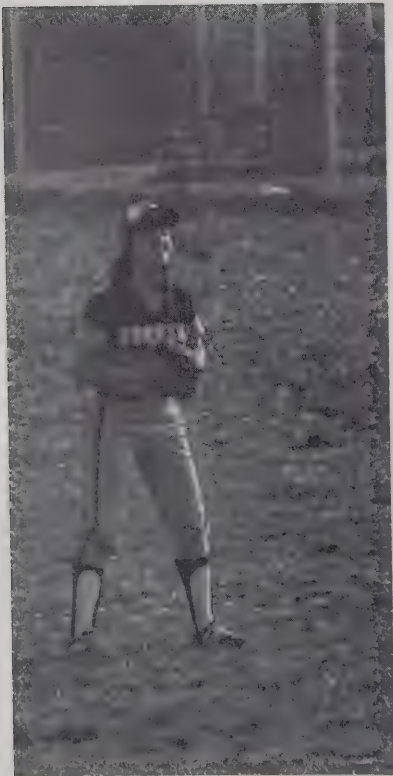

The 1983 Softball Team, under coaches Vonda and Robert Yunker, entered the District Playoffs in second place this year, and easily advanced to the State Playoffs with impressive wins over Boonsboro and Clear Spring. They then traveled to Upton Park where they suffered a heartbreaking loss to the eventual State Champions, Catoclin.

Girls' Success Shown

The Ram opponent is out at first as Carol Wilt touches the bag.

Liz Sisler stands ready to cover any ball hit into the outfield.

Third baseman Robin Ghrist appears at the plate in hopes of contributing to a late inning rally.

In Final Record

In a contest with Rockwood, Christy Fratz scurries home with a crucial run.

The Lady Huskies finished this year with a hard earned nine and six mark. They started the season with victories over Salisbury and Turkeyfoot, but endured the low point of their season when they dropped four games against Southern. They then rallied together at the end of the season to defeat Meyersdale, C.C.A., and Rockwood alone, with Boonsboro and Clear Spring in the playoffs.

Senior girls, Bev Miller, Linda Yunker, Christy Fratz, Marie Kline, Robin Ghrist, and JoAnn Durst provided experience in leading the girls to the State Playoffs.

The 1983 Baseball Team finished the season with seven wins and nine losses. Although they failed to break .500, six of their games were decided by two runs or less. Two wins over Valley and our first victory over Mt. Savage in five years highlighted the season.

A infield fly, caught by Phil Carr, ends an inning against Rockwood.

Rounding third, Charlie Beiler is determined to score on a ball hit through the middle.

A fine defensive play is executed as Donnie Jenkins runs down his opponent.

Relaxing and enjoying the game, Steve Zumpano waits for a chance to enter the contest.

Getting a hit is the main goal of Steve Zumpano as he battles at the plate.

Husky Athletes

Because sports were an essential element of school recognition and morale, the male athletes worked long, hard hours preparing themselves for competition with teams in the area. Spectator support made those vital hours seem benaficial, but it was also school letters that gave the athletes a sense of pride and satisfaction. The team also worked together to sponsor the Snowball Dance, from which all proceeds went towards paying for Lettermen jackets.

Brad Yoder practices basketball shots for fulfillment of Lettermen requirements.

Being a member of the Girls' Varsity Club meant playing at least one sport whether it be volleyball, basketball, or softball, and enduring five embarrassing days commonly known as the Initiation Week. The club is an entirely self-supporting organization led by their advisor, Coach Vonda M. Yunker, President, Christy Fratz, Vice-President, Linda Yunker, Secretary, Beverly Miller, and Treasurer, Cindy Sines. The club's reason for existence is to recognize the contribution of female athletes to the sports program. The club initiated various money raising schemes, such as the sale of hoagies, candy bars, lollipops, and candy sticks to pay for varsity jackets, letter sweaters, equipment and uniforms. April brought the Annual Easter Dinner to give the girls a chance to spend a little non-athletic time together and exchange Easter baskets made by each member.

Girls' Varsity members Linda Yunker and Bev Miller discuss plans for the club's Easter dinner with Coach Vonda Yunker.

Pam Broom, Shari Broom, Kathy Shives and Sharon Weimer perform a series of kicks in unison at a basketball game.

With their first full year as an official part of the band, the Drill Team saw many changes in their procedures. Practices were now with the band and the girls found themselves not only at games with pom pons as in the past but also with flags and banners and at competitions and parades as well. They also performed at Northern night at G.C.C. and went along with the band in working the band boosters booth at the fair, selling hoagies, and helping at the Color Guard competition sponsored by the band. Practices held twice weekly provided a chance for members to polish skills with pom pons, flags and dance steps to such songs as Bird Land, Feeling 7-Up, Winners Circle and the Fight Song.

Standing at attention with flags upright, Drill Team members Diane Hetrick, Pam Broom, Shari Broom, and Holly Harman await the ending of the band's rendition of the "Espiritu" at half-time of the Beall game.

While most of those in attendance at the basketball game took a break at half-time, the Drill Team performed to "Birdland" and the "Fight Song."

The Cheerleading Club provided a chance for both the J.V. and Varsity cheerleaders to meet together to practice cheers and plan upcoming events such as pep rally's and the bonfire. The club period gave them a chance to polish skills and get ready for upcoming games of the evening.

Cheerleading Expertise

Varsity cheerleaders Carissa Selby, Barb Sisler, Patti Blocher, Kim Moore, Becki Tacket, Sherry Kolbfleisch, and Laura Stanton begin cheers at a wrestling match.

Activities of the cheerleading squad far exceeded supporting the wrestling and ball teams. Much time and effort was expended in planning and holding pep rallies, Spirit Week, making signs that were hung on school walls, and holding a cheerleading clinic for potential N.H.S. cheerleaders who were currently attending the elementary and middle schools. The girls spent much after-school time on long bus trips, in practicing sidelines, and in cheering on the crowd of spectators in rain, frost, and freezing temperatures. This hard work was made more bearable by taking a look at the number of awards, ribbons, and trophies won in the 1982 summer cheerleading camp.

The Band, the Pep Band, and the Feature Twirlers, Denise Friend and Sherri Golden, functioned this year under the direction of Mr. James Boord. While the band and feature twirlers worked together in a class period, the Pep Band was a separate group which met during club periods.

The band, along with the feature twirlers, attended football and basketball games and pep rallies where baton routines by the twirlers were accompanied by the band. Pardes offered still another opportunity for the band, under the direction of field director Amy Wellborn, to perform along with the twirlers, the drill team and the color guard. A field show held in October, following the Autumn Glory parade, allowed the four groups to perform together in their first competition. The highlight of the year was the trip to Washington, D.C. on the weekend of May 6. There the band and its auxiliaries performed at the Festival of Music. Money for this event was raised by the sale of hoagies, a food stand at the fair, and the color guard competition sponsored by the band in the early spring.

Twirling to "7-UP," Sherri Golden enthalls the crowd of a half-time show with her fast-moving baton.

Chorus And Student Council

Under the direction of Mr. James Boord, Sheila Wagner, Kim Habel, Melissa Margroff, Vivian Richter, Kim Bender, Karen Frank, Jodi Resh, and Connie Thomas rehearse an arrangement by Terry Nowak entitled "Birdland."

Highlighting the chorus' year of hard work was their Christmas concert. It featured Rebecca Tacket playing the lead role in an interpretation of the Broadway musical, "Annie." To defray expenses, a Turkey raffle was held, as well as the sale of suckers and small stuffed bunnies and ducks.

A wide variety of subjects came under the scrutiny of the Student Council in the course of the year. Representatives worked on such topics as school improvements, homecoming, bonfire, dances, decorations, fund-raising, and charity work. By keeping communication lines open between students and the administration, the Student Council helped to design working solutions to problems and difficulties and to keep a good student/teacher rapport. Some council representatives attended a meeting of the Board of Education to express their ideas for the upcoming renovation of the school and on plans for the future shape of vocational education in the school system. The Student Council also sponsored a Heart Fund campaign. One girl was chosen to represent each club, and the girl collecting the most money was crowned Heart Fund Queen.

Starting off the Health Club's busy schedule was a visit to Goodwill Mennonite Home, where members distributed home-made Christmas cards and spoke briefly with guests of the home. Also included in the club's agenda was a tour of a rescue squad, it's equipment, and an overall sketch of what the job of being a member of the Northern Rescue Squad entails. Furthermore, the club hosted a pharmacist of Sacred Heart Hospital who spoke on the subject of over-the-counter-drugs, their uses, purposes and side effects. A major club project was assisting with the Hike and Bike for the Garrett Organization for the Handicapped.

Consisting of members of the J.V. team and those who merely expressed an interest in the game, the Basketball Club gave its members the chance to perfect their skills during the off-season and to cover varied fundamentals of the sport. After electing officials, club time was spent playing tournaments or simply throwing the ball around.

In response to the latest health craze, an Aerobics Club was newly formed this year. Aerobics combines dance and vigorous exercises to strengthen muscles and the cardiovascular system. Aerobics consists of stretching exercises, floor exercises, and routines put to music. Many girls in this club discovered aerobics to be an enjoyable experience, and several continued exercises even out of school with the knowledge they had gained through the club. Mrs. Jackie Davis, Miss Anna Norris, and Mrs. Debbie Alkire formed the leadership of the new club and provided members with activities during club period.

Membership

The ski club was more than just a bunch of kids having fun, but fun was a large part of the plan. The members spent a day at The Wisp ski resort and made plans for a ski trip to Sugarbush in Vermont. The trip was subsidized by the sale of hoagies. Lack of snow brought ski movies and springtime softball to the club's barren schedule.

In hopes of a trip to the Vermont ski resort Sugarbush, ski club members Mike Smith, Connie Stewart, Jenny Thoman, Michelle Clutter, Todd Stanton, Brent Fratz, and Dana Frazee discuss final details and planning.

For those students who had a desire to master the skills of chess, the Chess Club offered the chance to practice and perfect various techniques of the game. Mr. James Bucy rendered his knowledge of the game to the club, explained the pieces used in the game, and how to set up the board. Throughout the year, club members applied their new skills in tournaments to discover which members were most talented in this game of skill.

A combination of skills and talents were needed by members of the Model Railroad Club. Designing, painting, carpentry, electrical wiring and creativity were all put to use in constructing a miniature railroad town. Most materials used were contributed by the advisor, Mr. Robert Yunker, but there were also donations made by members of the club.

The club introduced them to the subject of electrical engineering, supplying experience as well as enlarging their knowledge in the field. Students in the club learned aspects of computer programming, how to play video games, and how to operate radio-controlled cars and airplanes.

Mark Robeson, Chris Sisler, and Bill Lanphear operate computers during club period.

Bringing personal computers to school gave their owners a chance to share their knowledge and technology with fellow club members. The club was also given an introductory program of the Apple 2E computer. Video-cassettes concerning computer hard and software provided members with additional insight into the multi-faceted realm of computers. The club also tentively scheduled owners of an Apple computer distributing firm in Cumberland to lecture on the topic of computers.

The sale of citrus fruits, plants grown by members in the greenhouse, and fruit trees enabled the Future Farmers of American to attend judging contests in the state. These included a contest in judging livestock, dairy products, and vegetables at College Park and a soil judging competition in which the North Garrett division placed third in the state. The organization also took field trips to the Pennsylvania Farm Show in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, to Yoder's Locker Plant in nearby Grantsville and to Yough View Farms near Friendsville.

Jr. F.F.A First Row: Shirley Merrbach, Marla Brenneman, Truman Kahl, Dennis Yoder, Tim Rodeheaver, Dwayne Fratz, Mr. Harold Loughrie.
Second Row: Carl Beitzel, Kelli Grove, Bob Broadwater, Tracy Bowser, Ken Savage, Third Row: Jessie Brobst, Mark McKenzie, Keith House, David Price, Carl Friend

Individuality

President Gloria Maust Leads the group in discussion of future events during club period.

GOD SQUAD: Front Row: Terry Beitzel, Dwylin Miller, Gloria Maust, Lisa Maust, Second Row: Miss Miller-Advisor, Shelley Lytle, Robin Tasker, Lorreta Sines, Brenda Yoder, Kim Bender, Angie Bender

Under the leadership of elected officers, the God Squad hosted Kristine and Charlotte Maust, who presented a puppet show portraying how Christians relate with and share their feelings about God to other people. Another program sponsored by the God Squad was the "Cross and the Switchblade" shown in the G.C.C. auditorium. An evening presentation by the gospel singing group "First Love" was included in their April's agenda.

Prompted By Clubs

Mrs. Linda Buckel and Mrs. Patricia Starford demonstrate making corn husk wreaths during club period.

A fundraiser was held at the beginning of the year by the Latchhook Craft Club. The club members raffled off a corn husk wreath at $1.00 per ticket; the group project brought in an overall profit of approximately $100.00.

Another of the club's creations was needlepoint snowflakes which the members made individually. Latchhook was another of the clubs projects which the members paid for themselves. Field trips to craft shows became another point of discussion during many of the club meetings.

Journalism Illustrates

While they earn classroom credits toward graduation, members of the North Star and Viking staffs gain journalistic experience through publishing the annual and the newspaper.

The North Star Yearbook staff consisted of 13 Juniors and Seniors with Miss JoAnna Miller serving as yearbook advisor for the twelfth consecutive year. Together they struggled with problems of layout design, picture cropping, and centering headlines to fulfill the book's many functions. The staff met 4th period before lunch each day for one hour to work on pages. Each staff member was assigned to at least one section and ads, but all performed other assignments such as business management, photography, typing, and editing sections of the book as well.

VIKING STAFF

First Row: Scott Watkins, Melrose Hanft, Stacy Rodeheaver, Kelly Thomas, Amy Wellborn, Peggy McFarland, Cindy Friend, Terry Grove, Robin Frazee, Brenda Beiler

YEARBOOK STAFF

School Interests

Scott Watkins and Kate Klotzbaugh
contemplate new articles in Viking.

The 23 members of the Viking staff published the school newspaper 7 times this year. Fourth period each day, the staff met under Advisor Mrs. Lucille Sines for writing articles, taking pictures, and answering and initiating letters. Staff members often stayed after school in order to meet deadlines. The Viking provided a chance for students to express ideas and record new styles and kept everyone up to date on the latest sports news as well as other school events.

The varied activities of the yearbook staff are demonstrated here in the preparation of posters announcing yearbook sales by Mike Thomas, Sherri Golden, Holly Harman and Cathy Wheeler.

Club Displays Student Expression

The publication of The Nordique provided enjoyment for many of the students and faculty who collected issue after issue of the magazine.

The literary magazine, The Nordique was composed of student writing in poetry and prose selected from assignments given by the English department. Also included were compositions submitted by individual students. The publication was put up for sale in January and May by the Nordique Club at the cost of 50¢ per copy.

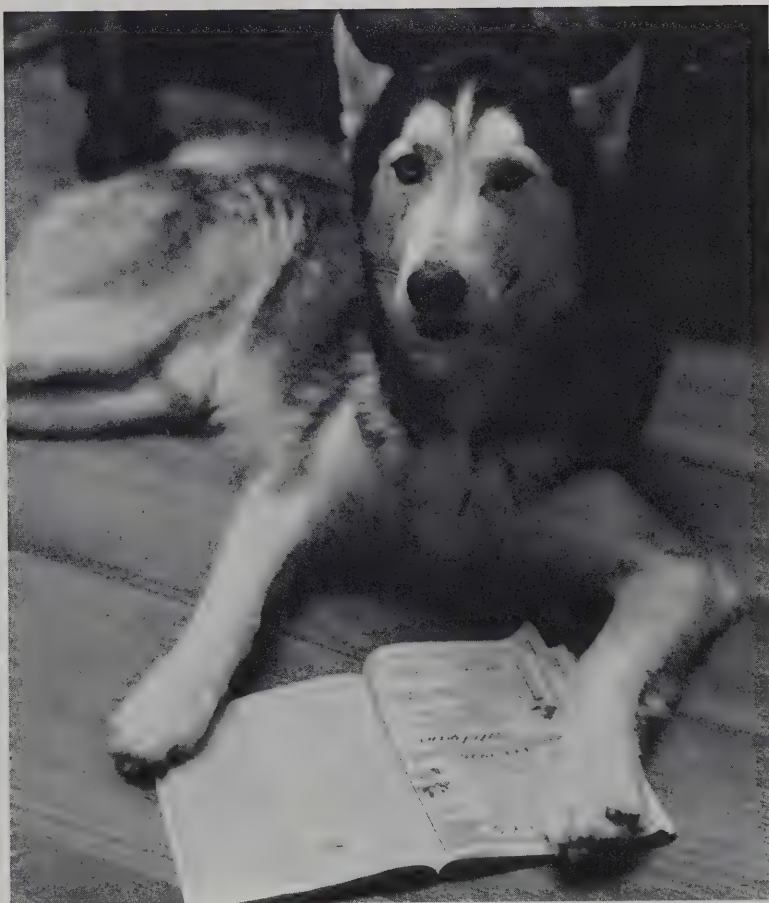

As part of their commitment for the compilation of The Nordique, Anita Bowser and James Tasker set aside dry silkscreening pages used for the cover and division pages.

Congratulations

to our graduates
and their families.

We can't accept the wisdom that tells you that life is no longer the exciting adventure it used to be.

True, the problems facing us as a nation may seem overwhelming at times, and the signals can be confusing. But, we're convinced that the basic values we've always held—thrift, hard work, honesty and faith still count.

We have to believe in our youth. You are our reason for not giving up. We believe in you, and our nation.

Student Life Revolves Around School

Running for the position of Student Council Secretary, Autumn Frazee uses signs to advertise her candidacy.

To liven up the dull gray lockers, Kathy Shives decorates her locker with mementos of school, friends, and Garfield.

Named as the Cumberland Times "Co-Player of the Year," Senior forward

Brad L. Yoder practices shooting the basketball for his next game.

The end of the school is a busy time for students. Many events take place during this time to recognize student achievements throughout the school year. The FFA Banquet was held in late April and many members found themselves honored for their hard work for the club. The Athletic Banquet was held in early May. Many athletes earned trophies and special recognition was given to both the football and softball teams for earning the title of Region I, Class "C" Champions in their respective sports. The Student Council Dinner was held the following week. Awards for "Student of the Year" and the "Most Outstanding Student" for each grade level were given out, as well as other awards for academic achievements. The top ten percent of the Senior Class was recognized, led by Linda Yunker as Valedictorian and Tracey Sweene as Salutatorian. The annual Awards Assembly was held on the morning of May 18.

Student Achievements

In Act I, Scene II, of the school play, "The Curious Savage," Mrs. Savage (LuAnn Hartley) and Fairy May (Amy Wellborn) beg Hannibal (Todd Bashore) to play his violin for them while "world hater" Mrs. Paddy (Shari Broom) paints a seascape.

Intently studying a model, John Swauger learns how a baby lies in its mother's womb.

During the volleyball pep-rally, the J.V. cheerleaders perform a skit to boost the spirits of the team as they prepare for the district playoffs.

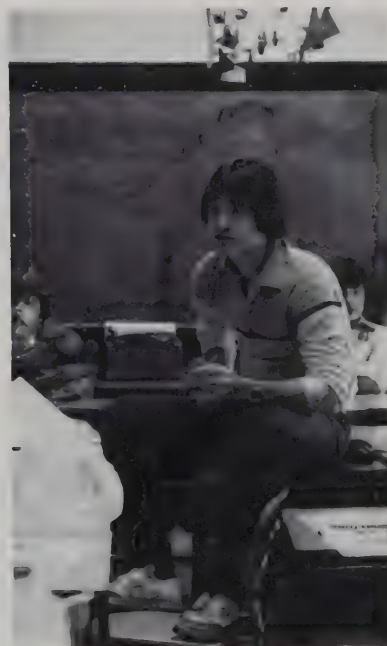

Are Recognized

Helping to spread Christmas joy to others, Karen Fink and Miranda Hicks, both Student Council members, assemble a wreath to hang on the school.

Haunted by the memory of past Halloweens the marching band dresses appropriately for its part in a Halloween parade.

To discuss his art project, Dan Holt Schneider argues his point while a disinterested Steve Beachy takes a short catnap.

The Class Of '83 Bids Its Last Farewell

After decorating his car with colorful balloons, streamers, and flags at the Scenic Overlook and driving around both the high school and middle school, Steve Wilburn parks his car after the annual senior parade to attend the Awards Assembly with his fellow classmates on the seniors' last day of school.

Twelve years of hard work and dedication have finally paid off as seniors receive their diplomas.
